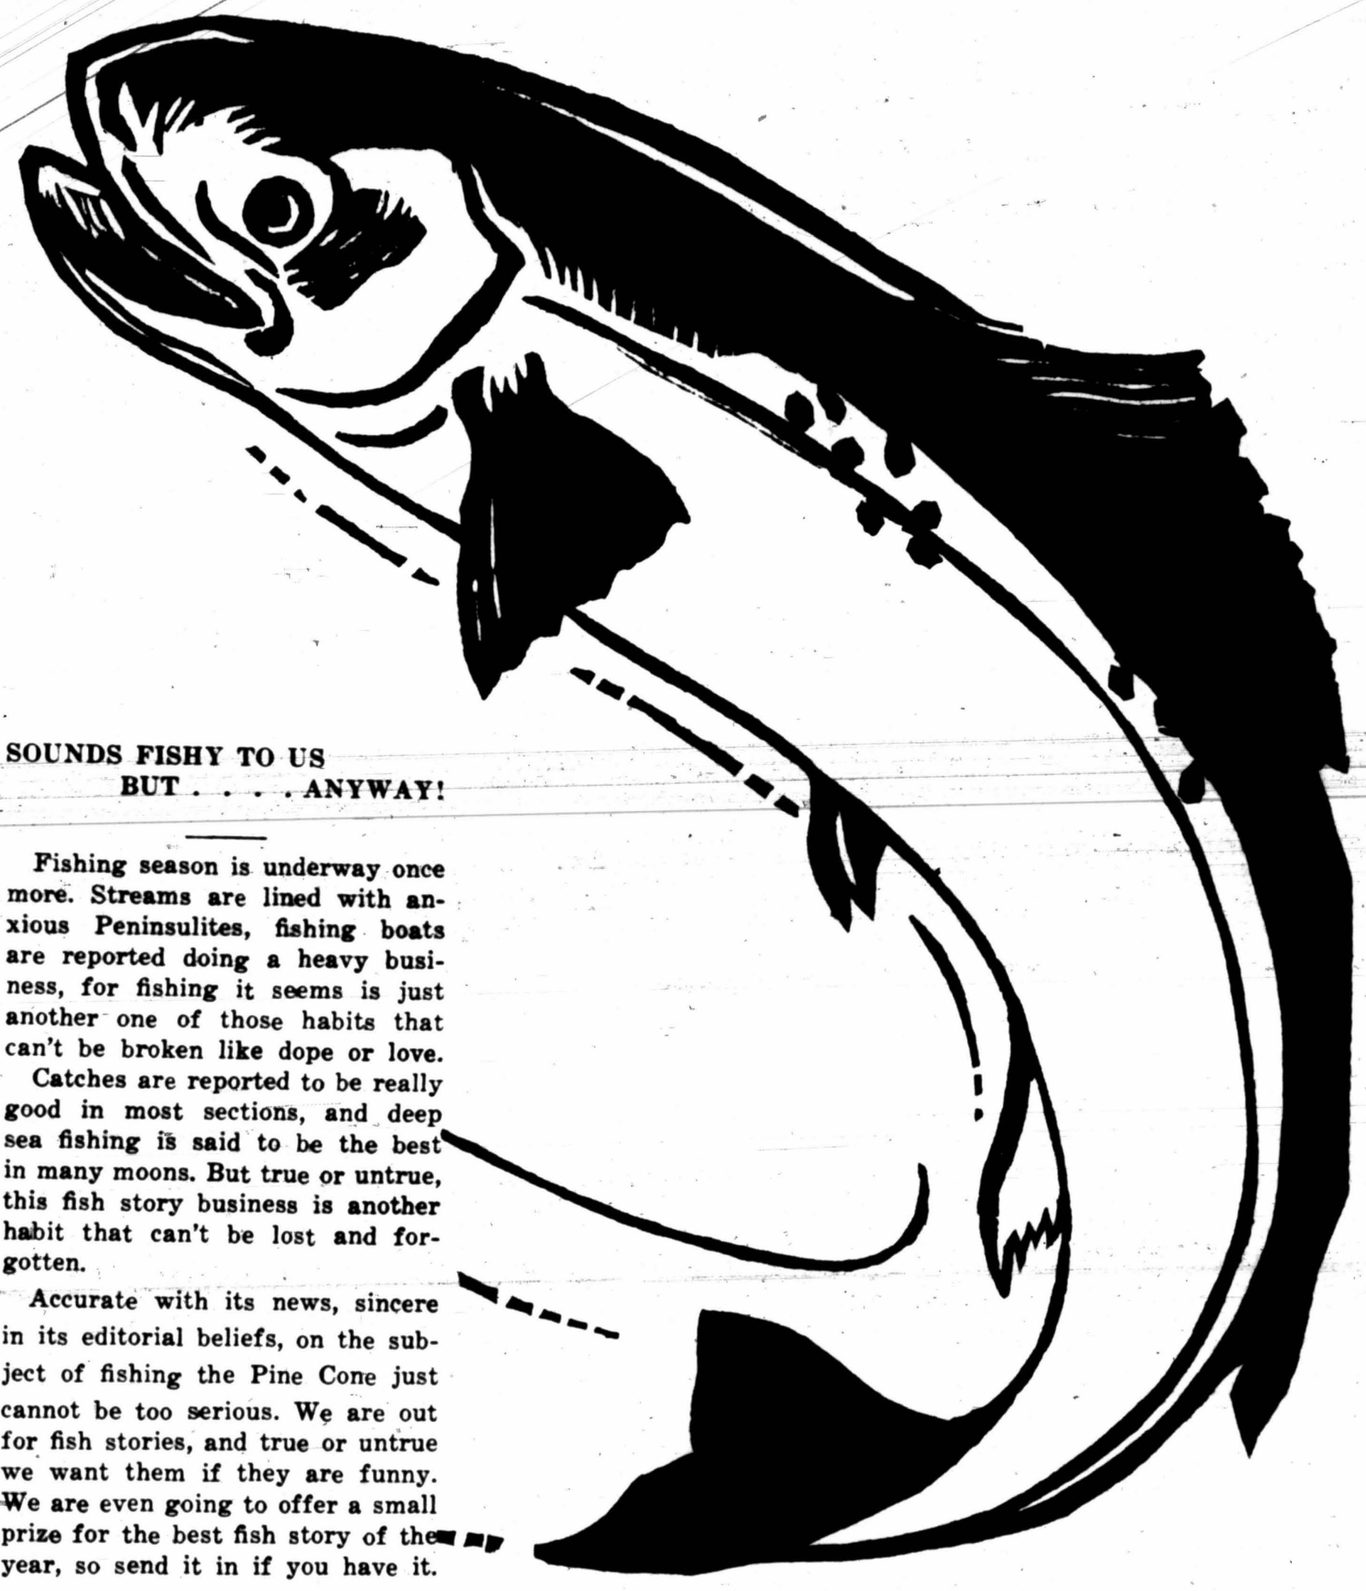
Committe Rounds Out Serra Festival Plans

Plans are rapidly crystalizing for the forthcoming Serra Fiesta and Pageant (August 24 to 28, inclusive). In what promises to be the most potent attraction in the history of the Monterey Peninsula, so much advance work is involved that every ramification of the event has been outlined and is being carefully studied at the executive committee's regular weekly meetings. At a recent session of the executive group new sub-committee chairmen were appointed, making the present line of chairmen as follows: George F. Marion, Production; J. L. Cockburn, Finance; Tom Thienes, Publicity; Milton Latham, Construction; Fred Godwin, Housing; Willard Whitney, Concessions; James H. Thoburn, Reception.

Already inquiries regarding Serra Sesqui-centennial Week have been received from newspapers and civic bodies in various quarters of the State. There are definite indications that this interest will expand far beyond California's borders. One of Chicago's leading newspapers has virtually pledged a full page in its Sunday rotogravure section. Several correspondents of New York papers have requested information. Irving Cobb, rcently a Carmel visitor, promised his old friend Frank Sheridan an article in behalf of the event. Other prominent writers with whom the committee is now in corresponce will doubtless furnish interesting "copy." Particularly gratifying is the cooperation manifested by those of our own community.



SOUNDS FISHY TO US
BUT . . . . ANYWAY!

Fishing season is underway once more. Streams are lined with anxious Peninsulites, fishing boats are reported doing a heavy business, for fishing it seems is just another one of those habits that can't be broken like dope or love.

Catches are reported to be really good in most sections, and deep sea fishing is said to be the best in many moons. But true or untrue, this fish story business is another habit that can't be lost and forgotten.

Accurate with its news, sincere in its editorial beliefs, on the subject of fishing the Pine Cone just cannot be too serious. We are out for fish stories, and true or untrue we want them if they are funny. We are even going to offer a small prize for the best fish story of the year, so send it in if you have it.

Stable Boy Arrested as Bird and Fish Burglar

Herbert Alexander, young Carmel stable boy, was arrested here early Sunday morning by Lt. Dowling and Officer Setzer, of the Pasadena Police Department, on a charge of stealing wholesale quantities of poultry canaries and goldfish and disposing of them through a woman fence in South Pasadena. His confederate, Rolland Mueller, also still in his teens, had been arrested on Saturday in San Luis Obispo by the same officers.

When Charles Guth, Carmel traffic officer, led the Pasadena men to Alexander's cabin, the trio entered an unlocked door after repeated calls brought no results, and found Alexander wide awake but making no attempt to reach for the gun and ammunition on the nearby table.

He is said to have confessed when charged with burglarzing exclusive estates to get the wanted booty, and to have cleared up other burglaries in southern California that have been unsolved since November. In canaries alone $500 worth had been taken.

He came to Carmel but a week ago, and he and his pal planned to take a round-the-world trip within the next two weeks. The Pasadena Police Department has been working on the various cases for some time, and when the tip was received Saturday morning the arrests followed in quick succession. If the youths are convicted, they face penitentiary sentences.

Assessor Explains New Automobile Tax

Confusion is still widely prevalent among automobile owners as to the new law covering the tax clearance of cars, according to local assessors.

The law, which went into effect on the first Monday of March last, requires that the white registration certificates in possession of owners shall carry a stamp of clearance by the assessor of the county, and where the owner resides within municipal limits, by the assessors of both City and County.

As the purpose of the law is to prevent the evasion of the automobile tax by non-owners of real estate; many owners of real estate labor under the impression that they do not need to bother to call on the assessor with their white certificates.

This is an error. The Motor Vehicle Department at Sacramento will refuse hereafter to issue new license plates to owners whose white slips come in without having been propertly stamped. In the case of the real estate owner, the stamp is affixed by the assessor when the car is entered on the tax rolls against his property. But non-owners of real estate must pay the tax directly to the assessor before validation via stamp is accorded.

STUART-NEWELL MARRIAGE TO GO ON DIVORCE ROCKS

Gloria Stuart, blonde picture star, and Blair Gordon Newell, her sculptor husband, have found their trial separation in Hollywood a failure and will make it permanent with a divorce, according to late news reports from the south.

The two came to Carmel in 1930 from San Francisco, where marriage had culminated a romance between the California co-ed and the struggling Telegraph Hill artist. Gloria reported news for the Carmelite, while her husband worked at clay and between times built and ran the first local miniature golf links, on Ocean Avenue at Monte Verde.

She was seen here in Morris Andrum's "Seagull," then "The Gods Of The Lightning" and received modest praise for her talents, then went south to appear in the Pasadena Playhouse and was discovered by movie scouts. One of her

Recreational Support Withdrawn by Council

The city council withdrew its tentative support to the tri-city recreational plan in the Wednesday evening meeting by rescinding an earlier resolution appointing a commission to represent Carmel in the projected summer activities. It did so on the grounds that Carmel should not be made liable to law suits resulting from possible injuries, regardless of such insurance as might be bought by the city to cover emergencies.

Moved by councilman Joseph Burge and seconded by councilman John Catlin, the rescinding of an earlier action sanctioning a committee consisting of John Neikirk, Miss Ruth Huntington, Mrs. Vera Peck Millis, Hurd Comstock and Rev. Melvin Dorsett found Mayor James Thoburn and councilman Bernard Rowntree not voting, and the aforementioned two and councilman Norton voting aye.

Burge said that he refused to let the city be liable in the matter, and Catlin said that beyond that he did not want to tax the incorporated area for something that the unincorporated area would use as well. Thus it appears that the plan for supervised playground activities and arts and crafts endeavor during the vacation period will have to get along without city backing, which means that federal aid, as proposed, will not be available.

A $100 appropriation as a mayor's entertainment fund was moved by Catlin in view of the drain the city chief undergoes attending dinners, political meetings and educational gatherings, especially with Serra Year now at hand, which was seconded by Norton and passed by all except Mayor Thoburn, who did not vote.

Catlin suggested that in view of the forthcoming library discussion, planned for the regular meeting June 6th, consideration be given to forming a Library District and easing the individual tax without impairing the present library service. This received favorable comment, but would need an act of the Legislature to create the same and might take some time to create, besides making the library board an elective body.

Adjournment was then accomplished at the unusually early hour of nine-fifteen.

Economy is Keynote Of Council Meeting

Frank discussion of city problems and a strong tendency toward economy were outstanding features of last week's adjourned regular conucil meeting on the 10th, when members gathered to consider summer recreational plans and to hear reading of a new ordinance, a well as partake in unscheduled matters that came up of their own accord.

City liability in the propsed federal tri-city recreational idea,wherein outdoor games and indoor arts and crafts would be fostered, was questioned by councilman John Catlin. "We can't act intelligently on this matter until the city attorney is here to advise us on such points," he declared. The mayor was appointed to investigate this angle, and John Neikirk, chairman of the Carmel Recreational Committee, was asked to coperate with the city.

While the council approved the committee headed by Neikirk, it was unwilling to hasten toward appropriation for arts and crafts materials, and $200 for outdoor supervision, the maximum sums set down in an earlier letter to the council from Rev. Melvin Dorsett, proponent of the idea, nor was it too eager to agree that Carmel should join with Monterey and Pacific Grove as the government representative recently aid was necessary if federal help was to be had.

Catlin especially was against appropriation of city funds for something that outsiders would also use saying, "I do not want the poor minority taxed when outiders who are well-to-do will give voluntarily. Let those who wih to gives do so outright."

The whole affair was to be taken up for final action Wednesday evening.

Eugene Watson asked for a review of the new city hall proposition recently voted down, to see if possibly federal funds could not yet be had. He emphazed that although the $50,000 bond isue had not been favored at the late election, he believed if people knew of the economies involved they would favor it now. This precipitated considerable discussion.

Councilman Catlin said that the people had overwhelmingly voted voted down the idea, and that while he saw the present city hall as a firetrap and a danger to our expenive city records, he, would not favor further action at the present time. Councilman Norton then said the great need today was adequate housing of fire apparatus, and that as fire commissioner he wanted steps taken in the matter independent of the city hall, saying that if linked together each would fail again.

Watson then asked that a committee be appointed to consider the whole plan, and Mayor James Thoburn will name three councilmen and two citizens to investigate it.

The library tax and library matters generally were postponed for hearing until the regular meeting on June 6th, and much interest will undobutedly develop in the meanwhile.

Second and final reading was given an ordinance amending Ord. 1, Sect. 1, changing the council meeting hour from 7:30 to 8:15, and unanimous aprpoval was given to it. Numerous small items were taken up, to be followed by adjournment until Wednesday evening.

Many Carmel friends of Sibyl Hitt Leonard recently welcomed her back after several months stay in the East. She has again taken up residence in one of the Hill apartments.

Mrs. Jean M. Peterson and Doris Van Every of San Francisco spent last week in Mrs. Peterson's cottage on Casanova. Mrs. Peterson who is an artist spent much of the week painting on the coast.

SILVA STUDIO FETING ITS TWENTIETH YEAR

Wiliam P. Silva, a veteran of the Carmel art group, will celebrate on June 1st the twentieth anniversary of his studio with a reunion of old-timers who have been here that long or longer.

Of particular interest at the time will be the showing of new paintings which have composed the current exihibt. In the past twenty years his paintings have gone to far regions of the world, done, for the most part, in this very studio on San Antonio Street, a few steps to the north of Ocean Avenue. Often he has taken extensive tours to gather material, only to return with renewed enthusiasm for Carmel, and here to do canvas after canvas in his well known individualtistic style.

A list of guests for the coming event will doubtless read like an early-day who's who, and it is being anticipated with much interest by Carmelites who went to the original opening in 1914.

LEE DAINGERFIELD PASSES IN HAYWARD

Lee Daingerfield, owner of the Carmel butcher shop some fifteen years ago, died at his Hayward home on Sunday. He had been in business in other parts of the peninsula prior and subsequent to his Carmel connection, and had resided in Hayward for the past several years.

SANITARY TRUSTEES NOT YET SWORN IN

The five trustees of the Carmel Sanitary District have receievd reappointments from Governor James Rolph, Jr., following their resignations as of April 30th, but they have not as yet accepted them and been sworn into office. The whole matter of the Carmel sanitary problem remains uncertain following recent defeat of bonds to build a modern sewage disposal plant to replace the temporary one at the rivermouth, and apparently will stay so until action by state sanitary inspectors.

CHANGE OF POSTOFFICE LOCATION NOT DECIDED

The matter of the Carmel Post Office considering a new location will not be settled until official word comes from Washington, following recent investigations locally by the postal department. While only two signed bids on the new lease were received, there are known to be several other locations under consideration.

MADAME ORLOVA BACK FROM PORTLAND TALKS

Madame Barry Orlova, who spoke recently in Carmel on Russia, returned here this week from giving a series of lectures in Portland, Oregon. She was driven to the northern city by Mrs. Pat Hudgens, and on the way stopped in San Francisco at station KPO to give a broadcast on coast-to-coast hookup.

Her addresses included several before the American Legion and the Portland Women's clubs, as well as radio talks, and she intends to appear there again in the Fall. With her various coast engagements during the rest of this year, it is quite probable that Madame Orlova will not return to New York for some time, and everywhere her talks on Russia are being received with acclaim for their masterly grasp on problems of today as related to the background of the Russia of yesterday.

CARMEL SEA SCOUTS ARE WELL UNDERWAY

Membership in the Carmel Sea Scouts is increasing all the time, and with activity in fitting out their meeting room in the Sunset School the lads are eagerly preparing for a summer that will go far beyond the expectations of the founders a few short weeks ago.

Fine examples of handicraft are evident in what the future sailors are contributing to the equipment, and the classes in navigation and the like are showing a keen lot of students for future life upon the ocean wave.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY TO MEET ON TUESDAY

The monthly meeting of the Carmel Misisonary Society will be held at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon, May 22nd, in the Parish House of the All Saints Church. Miss Harriet Bakewell, of Berkeley, president of the House of Church Women, will tell of work among the Chinese in San Francisco. The public is cordially invited to attend.

BARNET SEGAL NOW IN NEW OFFICES

The Segal Investment Company which recently moved into their new office on Ocean Avenue have had the front of their office remodeled and will soon have the back re-decorated. Though carpenter work has been going on in the front and back, Real Estate and Insurance business has been transacted as usual. As there is expected to be a large rental business this summer a real estate manager is needed. Gladys Johnston, who is conneeted with the office this winter will have charge of the rentals during the summer.

Kuster Play Wins In Bay City Tournament

With a contract to direct the Fresno Players next season snugly in his pocket, Edward Kuster slipped into San Francisco last week and at the Alcazar Theatre he and three of his Golden Bough Players took first place in the Unpublished Play division of the Northern California Drama Tournament. Forty-five groups, members of the Northern California Drama Assn., participated in the competition.

According to the prospectus for the tournament, the awards in the two divisions, "unpublished" and "published," were made for the best productions rather than for the best plays, 10% being allowed for play-selection, 15% for settings and costumings, and 75% for acting and general production.

Kuster's prize vehicle was Maurice Browne's "The Mother of Gregory," a tragic ballad-play, played with the following cast: Georgia Wapple, of Hollister, as The Mother; Betty Meyers, of San Francisco, as Annie of Lochroyan; Everet Sholund, of Monterey, as Lord Gregory of the Black Crag; and the producer as Michael, an ancient serving-man.

"The Mother of Gregory" was first produced ten years ago as the opening play of the Theatre of the Golden Bough. It was recently revived by Kuster in celebration of the tenth anniversary of the Golden Bough Players. The Golden Bough group was local to Carmel and vicinity until depression conditions temporarily forced the Theatre of the Golden Bough into the movie ranks, since which time Kuster has recruited the players at large from the pick of the amateur talent of the state, regardless of residence. Their "Sister Benvenuta" and "Beggar on Horseback," produced last year in San Francisco, were given highest rank by the critics as outstanding artistic achievements.

Kuster's appointment, made a month ago, to direct the Fresno Players, brings his statement that "No small part of the inducement was to gain relief from the burdens of publicity-writing, business management, and—shall I say it? —diplomacy, which have handicapped my efforts in Carmel these latter years."

The Fresno appointment, it was stated, will not interfere with the announced Carmel summer plays at the Playhouse, nor with occasional Golden Bough productions during the fall and winter.

MICHEL PENHA IN CELLO RECITAL

by Hal Garrott

Celebrities as plentiful as raisins in a plum pudding made up the major part of the audience that crowded the Denny-Watrous Gallery last Saturday. The attraction was Michel Penha in cello recital with Ralph Linsley at the piano. The program, like all of Penha's possessed continuity and balance, and each selection was musically worth while.

To Penha's venerable, tri-centenarian cello such composers as Frescobaldi (1853), Bach (1685), Senallie (1687), and Haydn (1732) could have supplied no new experience. But I doubt if this time mellowed instrument ever expressed them more eloquently. The phrases in old Frescobaldi's Toccata possess character, and Michel Penha gave us more than a hint of their masculinity.

Cathedral arches seemed to rise on the wings of Bach,s poetic Adagio, appealingly interpreted. The close coupled runs in Senallie's Allegro Spiritoso, well suited to the cello, were given with a brittle crispness as dry as Riesling.

Hayden's Theme and Variations reveals the congeniality of spirit betweencomposer and soloist. The Saint-Saens Sonata for Cello and Piano struck home to those who prefer sighs and zephyrs to drama and mathemtics in music.

The second half, including such composers as Schumann, Faure, Sgambait, Boellmann, held its own with the first, notably the colorful Schumann. After the finale three encores were insistently demanded. No other cellist equals Michel Penha in attracting Carmel audiences and holding them. His success is due to sound musicianship vitalized by freshness of inspiration and adequate technic.

The ensemble playing of Ralph Linsley expressed beauty of tone blending. Such accompaniments are rarely heard on any stage, and a goodly share of the audience's enthusiam was a tribute to this accomplished pianist.

In the audience were Winifred Christie, concert pianist, Alfred Kastner, harpist to the king of England, H. Beal Torrey of Stanford, Bradford Green, painter and muiscian of Hartford, Conn., Winifred Howe and Marjorie Legge both concert pianists, Robert Hyde, Betty Strong, Portland pianist and Mrs. George Blair, the two last here to study with Frank Wickman just returned from travels in Europe.

FAMOUS RADIO BAND NOW AT DEL MONTE

Direct from a successful tour of the country where he played in the principal Eastern cities, Jack Souders and his 13-piece orchestra opened this week for a limited engagement in the Bali Room of Hotel Del Monte.

Souders is being brought to Del Monte by the Columbia Broadcasting Company which is planning to put his band on the air over the complete Pacific Coast network. No definite date for the broadcasting has been set and details are now being worked out between officials of the Columbia network and S. F. B. Morse, president Del Monte Properties Company.

Souders' orchestra is rated as one of the best bands of its kind on the coast. It was featured for several years as a headliner on the Orpheum circuit. He has also played at leading hotels in the east and also has made several music shorts for Paramount Studios.

Saturday night stars from the Columbia Broadcasting network will put on a special show as part of the program. Raymond Paige, guest conductor at the Hollywood Bowl, will also be on hand for the opening, as well as Don Lee, president of the Don Lee-Columbia Broadcasting system.

Souders orchestra is made up of experienced musicians and is said to be one of the best bands that has ever played at Del Monte. The Columbia Broadcasting company which is sponsoring his Del Monte appearance is grooming him for the famous Cocoanut Grove in Los Angeles.

ART GALLERY STAGES WATERCOLOR EXHIBIT

A new exhibit is now open at the Carmel Art Association gallery on north Dolores Street, this time of watercolors by member artists, and it will be on display for the next four weeks.

The twenty-four in the main room, and eleven in the north room comprise good representation of several school of work as well as variety of subjects, and advantage has been taken of the ample wall space to give plenty of room to individual pieces. Visitors are cordially invited to view this stimulating and colorful show, and hours are from two until five afternoons, in charge of curator Mrs. Nellie Montague.

What's the old socialistic cry about knocking over the rich and taking away their money to distribute God knows where? Just give the kidnappers enough time, brother, and that'll be all fixed.

ABOVE ALL, FOR SWEETNESS, IS THE OLD VIOLA D'AMORE

A musical event of unusual interest and distinction is to take place at the Denny-Watrous Gallery on Saturday evening of this week, when Alix Young Maruchess, the noted viola and viola d'amore concert artist of New York, will give a program of old and modern music on her two seldom-heard instruments. Mme. Maruchess will be accompanied at the piano by Ralph Linsley, pianist of the Penha Quartet.

This will be the first time the viola d'amore, a predecessor of the present day violin, has been heard in Carmel, and fortunately in the hands of its foremost exponent in the music world today. Formerly a concert violinist, who studied with Sevcik, Press and Auer, Mme. Maruchess renounced this more popular instrument when she discovered the viola d'amore which she now usese, an Amati. Her unusual programs for it and for the viola as a companion instrument have been considered outstanding among the musical events of each season in New York in recent years.

Mme. Maruchess, a native of Edinburgh, Scotland, now resident in New York, comes to Carmel on a tour of the South and West where her programs have been most enthusiastically acclaimed by critic of such cities as Los Angeles, Santa Barbara, San Diego, El Paso, San Antonio, other citie of the southwest and earlier through the South. Also she has been heard at the Colidge Festival, for the Friends of Music in Washington, the League of Composers of New York and similar musical organizations, and as viola d'amore soloist with the Manhattan Symphony.

The first half of the program, composed of a group for each instrument, will include works by Bach, Ariosti, Gretry, Milandre and other composers of two to four centures ago. The latter half will be devoted to such moderns as Hindemith, de Falla, Block, Debussy and Castelnuovo-Tedesco, with the addition of one compoition by a composer of the West Coast, Mildred Couper of Santa Barbara.

"DANGEROUS CORNER" TO BE OFFERED BY PLAYERS

Intensive rehearsals for Priestley's "Dangerous Corner" are under way at the Denny-Watrous Gallery for the Carmel Community Players' production of May 30, 31, and June 1, and 2nd, under direction of Gordon Davis who recently had charge of the Spring Jinks for the Bohemian Club.

In the coming play Ruth Thompson will be Freda, Bud Mills will portray Gordon, Paula Dougherty will take Olwyn, Olga Fish will be Miss Monkhurst, Mary Marbel Henderson will do Betty, Lloyd Weer will be Robert, and Byington Ford will take Stanton.

This psychological mystery play is one of the most powerful to be presented in Carmel in some time, and caused much controversy when it appeared on Broadway and in England. Tickets will shortly be on sale in Staniford's Drug Store.

HOLMAN CLUB GIVES GAY BANQUET PARTY

Monday night was a gay night in the Solarium at Holman's Department Store when 195 employees and friends gathered for the semi-annual banquet and dance of the Holman Club.

A short business session before the party determined the new officers of the club, namely W. A. Cunningham, President; W. H. Furnish, Vice President; Mrs. Anna Oxford, Secretary; and Miss Wilma Voss, Treasurer.

This was followed by a delightful banquet with entertainment by B. T. Robley, of the Robley Chevrolet Company who recited poems, and Mrs. Hilgers who whistled to the accompaniment of John Tiedeman, chairman of the California Alliance of Independent merchants. Russell Scott talked on the NRA, explaining and praising its purpose and accomplishments. L. Sasser was master of ceremonies.

A pie contest, in which the men employees of Holman's made the pies, was an interesting feature of the party, Don Donaldson winning first prize, and Mr. Cunningham the Booby prize. Mrs. W. R. Holman, Mrs. Robert Hard, and Mrs. Brinton acted as judges for the contest.

G. I. Peirce and Horace Kenyon were incharge of service, and were accorded rousing cheers for their assistance. Mesdames Sonneland, Cunningham, Sasser, Donaldson, Earnst, Dean, Jorna, and Alderson were presented with corsages for help in making the party a success.

Dancing to the music of Mike Marrotta and his melody polished off a delightful evening which concluded at midnight.

Mr. and Mrs. Mathew Stahl, Mrs. H. C. James, Ralph James and Vera Basham spent Mother's day in the Bay district visiting among others H. C. James in Oakland. Mrs. James remained in the city on Monday to shop.

Mrs. Vick W. Parsons co-owner of The Old English Shop was visiting here this week. Her daughter, Mary Louise, manages the shop here while Mrs. Parsons manages the shop in Fresno.

JOSEPH E. MITCHELL OUT FOR SHERIFF

The many friends of Joseph E. Mitchell will be gratified to learn that he has definitely decided to seek the office of Sheriff of Monterey County.

Mr. Mitchell now occupies the office of Councilman of Salinas City to which office he was elected by the largest vote ever given a candidate by the voters of Salinas City.

Mr. Mitchell is a property owner and tax payer. He is of the age of 41 years, is married, and has a 15-year old son now attending the Salinas Union High School.

Joseph E. Mitchell has resided in Salinas since 1923. Prior to coming to Salinas Mr. Mitchell served in various official capacities, viz, Deputy Sheriff of Kern County and Chief of Police of the City of McKittrick during the time that such city was a thriving oil town. By virtue of such official experience and service Mr. Mitchell has gained a knowledge of the responsibilites and duties of a peace officer which should enable him to efficienty discharge the duties of the office of Sheriff.

COZZENS REVIEWS AS COUNTY SURVEYOR

Since Howard F. Cozzens was elected County Surveyor in 1915, Monterey County has through the Board of Supervisors and under the design and supervision of the County Surveyor, constructed 290 miles of hard surfaced roads; 360 miles of graded and graveled roads, and 270 miles of graded roads.

Also there has been designed and constructed under the Supervision of the County Surveyor, 48 highway bridges, having a greater length than 20 feet. The total length of these 48 bridges is 13,500 feet or 2.55 miles.

In addition to this over 300 small bridges or culverts with span less than 20 feet have been built.

At present all roads are graded and graveled under the plan of following up as soon as funds permit, with oil surface roads which have proven exceptionally satisfactory and economical for roads leading to the main highways.

Last year 45 miles were oiled in this manner, and considerable mileage will be treated this year in the same way.

In addition to the construction of the roads and bridges all of the maintenance of the 1060 miles of roads in the County is under the supervision of the County Surveyor working in cooperation with the Board of Supervisors.

County Surveyor Cozzens says, "It has been a source of great satisfaction to have had a part in the growth of Monterey County's Road and Bridge System, and to see the miles of hard surfaced roads grow from none in 1915 to the mileage we now have. It has been a pleasure to work with Citizens and Taxpayers, who have always cooperated 100% in road matters, and if elected to office, will work with the Board of Supervisors and everyone concerned to help make Monterey County's Road System the foremost in the State."

C. F. JOY WILL AGAIN ENTER RACE

The incumbent County Clerk, C. F. Joy, is announcing to the people of Monterey County that he will be a candidate for re-election to that office at the Primary election this fall.

His fifteen years of experience in the office, first as deputy and for the past five years as County Clerk have qualified him to administer the affairs of that office efficiently and economically.

Joy was born and reared in Monterey County, was educated in its schools and in business college, and comes from a family identified with its affairs for many years.

Following his ten years as deputy in the County Clerk's office, he was appointed on January 1, 1930 as County Clerk by the Board of Supervisors, and the following year was elected as such without opposition.

"My experience as a deputy in the County Clerk's office was invaluable to me in assuming the management of that office upon my appointment in 1930," Joy says. "We were just entering upon an election year, a very trying period in the County Clerk's office, and without my previous experience, I fear the innumerable details incident to the conduct of a Primary and a General election at that time would have been more than I could have handled. The Superior Court was doing an unprecedented volume of business and the Court and office duties were claiming considerable time. All through the preparation and planning for the elections that year I worried over what might happen if I should over look one of the details in providing ballots, supplies, registrations, polling places, election officers and other preliminaries. I certainly heaved a sigh of relief when the elections were over and the returns had been tabulated. The elections had gone over without difficulty, the other office schedules had been satisfactorily maintained, and I felt that I had given the people of the County the service that they had a right to expect, and had justified the confidence the Board of Supervisors had shown by their appointment of me.

GROVE FIRM TO HAVE AUCTION

An auction sale that will feature nearly every kind of furniture and home furnishings will be held at the Peninsula Furniture Exchange of Pacific Grove, Saturday at two P. M.

Mr. Lee, manager of the firm, and Mr. La Porte, owner, announce that much of the best stock they have had for a long time will be autioned off to the highest bidder. An exceptional turn-out is looked for in view of the fact that no auction of this type has been held on Monterey Peninsula for a very long time.

Mrs. Louise Schromm of Pacific Grove and Palo Alto has taken a cottage on North Lincoln for the rest of the year.

WHY do you suppose Chevrolet keeps repeating, in all of its advertising, "Drive it only 5 miles"? Here's the reason: Chevrolet engineers have tried out all the various makes of cars in today's low-price field. And they have proved, to their complete satisfaction, the same things that hundreds of thousands of Chevrolet owners are proving in their daily driving: How much more smoothly a car travels with genuine, fully-enclosed Knee-Action. How much more comfortably it handles, with shock-proof steering. How much more restfully you ride, in a Fisher Body car. How much more safely you drive, with cable-controlled brakes. And how much finer performance and better economy are secured from an overhead-valve Six! In other words, Chevrolet engineers know for sure that the Chevrolet ride simply can't be matched by any other in the low-price field. They know it — thousands of owners know it — and now we want you to know it too, before you make your final choice of a low-priced car.

THINKING IT OVER
By Perry Newberry

I have been laid up for a week on my back in bed, by doctor's orders. One hundred and sixty-eight hours, even with plenty of reading matter and more than enough sleep, allows time for thought. Some of that excess thought, as it had to do with Carmel, may be material for this column.

For nearly a quarter of a century, I have lived in Carmel, and through most of that time have had intimate knowledge of its affairs and progress. I have seen it change from a wee hamlet with a scattering of homes into a solidly built town of several thousand people. I have watched it gain a nation-wide reputation because of the class of people, artists, writers and musicians and the finer grades of humanity, that have been attracted to it. As it has grown in numbers, it has developed along the lines of art, with dramatic and musical endeavors vying with painting and literary work. Though the proportion of people directly involved in the arts has not kept pace with those concerned in commercial affairs, there has been an indirect interest in the former that has served to hold Carmel to its ideals and advance its reputation for distinction.

It has only been in the past year or so that there has been any slackening of the morale. The long depression has unsettled everyone's ideals, and what once looked important has been forced into minor consequence. Artists and writers, and others whose living depended upon appreciation and patronage of the public, have been forced to find other work, or work in other places. The money for mere existence has been so hard to get that it has assumed undue importance. Holding Carmel to its traditions has seemed less serious than to bring it back to prosperity. As that seemed a job for business-minded men, it has come about that the city's governing has been placed entirely in such hands. Where usually there has been at least one representative of the artistic element on the council, today there is none.

That is not serious. What is serious is the apathy of the people of Carmel to the situation. The fear of change in trend of Carmel's future growth is not active and alert as in the past, nor is there evidence of a strong desire to hold to the path. The people seem to be willing to let Carmel go its own way, wherever, for the sake of the hope of better commercial conditions. There isn't the fighting spirit of the past in the advocates of a distinctive Carmel.

And that is a bad outlook. The next few years are going to see Carmel restored to commercial prosperity. With the rest of the country coming back, with a new state highway at our doors, with a greater and richer traffic in tourists, Carmel is bound to benefit in a money way. Land values, rentals, trade and construction will increase. And in those years the ruin of the village-as-is, long and carefully built, desperately fought for, is apt to happen.

We none of us want that. Our councilmen do not want that. Yet it is bound to happen unless the men and women who have an intuitive knowledge and the instinct for artistic simplicity get together and take a stand in directing the trend of Carmel's advance. Those who believe that the village today has merely happened to be unusual and distinctive do not know of the bitter battles in the past that have been fought to hold it to simplicity. Mass-meetings crowded to the doors with clamorous people, led and directed by the art element of the town, have time and again negatived plans that would have ruined Carmel's uniqueness. There was always in Carmel a strong, fighting element who could see the bitter consequences of schemes that looked fair and inoccuous, and was immediate in opposition to them.

Carmel's danger now is that lack of leadership. As I saw it in the hours of resting abed, the peril is not of intent, but through inablity to foresee results. No business man or woman would have Carmel change its ideals, and every councilman on the board is honestly for retaining the village as it has grown. Yet the direction of these minds will not hold it to that track. The continued promotion of a city hall, after a decisive negative by our voters, is in evidence. Advocated by the Carmel Business Association, it comes again and again to menace our integrity as a village with a difference. Other towns have their city halls, so why not Carmel?

Other beach towns have pavilions, boardwalks and concessions on the sands; other towns have jails and cemeteries; other towns have many things which Carmel has not. But Carmel will have them unless the people who can sense the change in trend are alert to point out the dangers to those who are blinded to the future.

Carmel is worth fighting for. I have seen it grow through twenty-four years, and can say that in its swift advance it has held a remarkably steady course. The proof is that there are more artists, more writers, more musicians and lovers of the arts living here than ever in those old days. There is still the inspiration that was the attraction then. The town is well liked as a residence-place by those who understand beauty and simplicity.

Watch then the next few years carefully; hold tightly to the things which are surely ours; be cautious of plans that tend toward the universal similarity; and do not hesitate to shout a warning. We are facing a crisis. Be ready to meet it.

ANNE'S INN

Anne's Inn is a cottage, neat,
At Capitola-Down-By-The-Sea
And hither I hasten with flying feet
When the week end finds me fancy free.

For here is a picture one can't resist,
With curling waves, and flying spray,
While faintly seen thro the rising mist
Are the blinking lights of Monterey.

A Bruner climbing about the door
Intrigues me with its luring scent
And the moonlit bay spread out before
Completes a picture of pure content.

Today as I came thro the redwod grove
A wood nymph beckoned to me to stay
But some one waits at our Pirate's Cove
So I hastened on and answered "Nay."

For the one I meet is a maiden, fair,
Her home she makes in the sea washed rocks
Wherever she's combing her silken hair
So I have a comb for my mermaids locks.

Were I a master of pencil and brush
I'd paint such scenes, forsake my pen,
I'd take my palette, some paints and—Hush!
That driad calling to me again!

A winding road finds our retreat,
Far from the city, its noise and din,
But I value most the friends I meet
And the welcome waiting at Anne's Inn.

CIGARETTE

This is as far as the band comes
From this point drummers bear stretchers
(In two hours we move up the line.)
Each man alone with his head cupped
Between hands wrenched from their discipline
Each man before the eternal
Sitting alone with his head bent
Rain falls across silence ,while mud
Emptily sucks at the landscape
This is as far as the band comes.

WINTER

After bright leaves, and harvest crisply binned,
Winter emerges, crystal javelined.
The pines hold high their snowy shoulder capes,
The bushes sparkle with their frosty drapes.
The furry woodland creatures burrow deep—
The houses huddle like flour-dusted sheep
The mountain wears an icy-silver crown
And garden beds hug quilts of eiderdown.

THE LIBRARY INVESTIGATION

The fear that Councilman Burge's move for an investigation of financial conditions of the Harrison Memorial Library meant an attempt to close or curtail the efficiency of that institution has been allayed by his own published statements and the stand of the other members of our governing body. It is evident that Carmel does not intend to get along with a second-class public library, and that none at all would not be countenanced for a minute.

With that understanding, a careful study of costs of maintenance of the institution in the light of present-day tax conditions, is nothing to fear. It may be that the same effectiveness can be had at less expense, or a a better library maintained at the present cost. The public which pays the bills has never had opportunity to inspect the items that go to make up its budget. Rather, there has always been that opportunity for him who desired the figures, but they were not published so as to be under the casual eye.

We will all be interested in those figures. The library is very much the business of every resident in Carmel. Probably no other town in the state has such a large proportion of its people holders of cards. We are a reading people. More and more, the library has grown into the necessities of our lives. Through the distribution of books and the use of its reading rooms, it has become an essential part of the village.

But we want from it a full and just return for lavish use of our tax money. No other library in the county, we believe, has so high a rate per hundred of assessed valua tion. Are we getting more in service and in books purchased than are these neighboring towns?

The library board, in whom the people have great confidence, will undoubtedly welocme the friendly cooperation of the tax-making body, the city council. There should be no friction in this investigation, but every effort of the united bodies should be to make the library more useful, more popular, and of even greater service to our people.

MILK FUND APPEAL

At the regular quarterly meeting of the Carmel Chapter of the Red Cross held on Friday last attention was drawn to the marked falling off in voluntary contributions to the milk fund deposited in milk bottles in various stores in town.

This drop has occurred since the Sales Tax came into effect, many people using all their pennies to meet the tax.

The directors decided to make this condition known to the public with an appeal for a revival of these contributions, suggesting that for each penny of Sales Tax another penny be dropped in the milk fund bottle, or better still if nickels and dimes were contributed.

PISTOL CLUB TROPHIES ON PUBLIC EXHIBITION

The Carmel Pistol Club gave citizens evidence of its prowess in a downtown window display of trophies, of winning targets and of club equipment.

Target pistols of many sizes and varieties of individual grips caught the eye first, then trophies won that included the Hatton Fields cup, presented by Paul Flanders in 1931, and carrying in succession the names of Messrs. Ball, Stover, Hanke, Wood, Ball and Williams, and several smaller cups, as well as a pitcher-and-cup tray and a plaque by O. N. Ford, the famous professional trapshooter of Del Monte, and medals won by members.

Targets with championship bull-eyes were shown bearing the names of George Wood, Jr., Leonard Johnson, David Ball, Charles Guth, and William P. Silva. There was a complete reloading outfit for .38 pistol ammunition, and a Zeiss Prismatic Telescope presented to the club by Dr. R. A. Kocher, which spots bullet holes in targets at 300 yards, as well as a rack holding thirty cartridges of calibers from .22 to .45, in all descriptions of jackets and bullets, including the new flat-faced wad-cutting bullet that leaves a hole as clean as if punched.

The Club will soon move from the winter indoor range in the basement of the Murphy building at Ocean and Mission to the Hatton Fields outdoor range, and this will add variety with the longer shooting thus allowed. Membership now totals 43 paid up members, 4 honorary and 2 associate. The honorary names are Paul Flanders, M. J. Murphy, Carl S. Rohr and Jim Williams, and the associate are Miss Eleanora Polly Bosworth and Mrs. Powell Crachton.

And the oldest known complete sentence of bad grammar: Be them there sheeps yourn?

MUSIC SOCIETY PLANS SUMMER SEASON DRIVE

The Summer Season Committee of the Carmel Music Society met with fully fifty members present on Monday evening in the Denny-Watrous gallery and mapped a sell-out campaign for the series of concerts and other features of the coming months.

Mary Marble sounded the keynote as chairman of the evening, telling of the splendid advance made by the Society in the past year, and of the notice Carmel is getting for its musical eminence, especially in having a resident group as the Penha Quartet.. The latter is a feature enjoyed by no other community of its size in the country.

The town will be divided into seven districts, each with its captain and lieutenants, and all persons contacted will be asked to become subscribers to this Summer Session.

In the Session will be such outstanding events as the Monterey Peninsula Orchestra under direction of Michel Penha, and assisting him will be the members of his own Quartet; there will be two children's concerts; and there will be a A Capella Choir, directed by Penha, for those interested in this form of singing. Five separate concerts are planned, which will include one solo concert by an artist yet to be chosen; three chamber concerts by the Penha Piano Quartet, and one orchestra concert with two soloists.

Concerts will be on five Tuesday evenings, beginning June 26th, and coming every other Tuesday thereafter. First open rehearsal of the Quartet will be June 12th, then the 19th, and so on.

Among members who made short talks that heightened the enthusiasm of the evening and started the campaign off at top speed, were Dr. R. A. Kocher, president of the Society, Dene Denny, chairman of the executive committee, Mayor James Thoburn, Councilman Bernard Rowntree, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dickinson, Mrs. Louis Levinson, David Hagermeyer, O. W. Bardarson, Mrs. Hurd Comstock, Miss Inglis, Mrs. Sidney Robertson, Mrs. Katharine Howe, Willard Wheeler, Fenton Foster, and William Deems.

SCOUT COURT OF HONOR TO BE HELD WEDNESDAY

Members of the Monterey District of Monterey Bay Area Council met at Elks Hall in Monterey on Wednesday, May 9th, Carmel being represented by Everett Smith and J. L. Schroeder.

It was decided to hold the next Court of Honor at Monterey Union High School on the evening of May 23rd, with all scout troops on Monterey Peninsula scheduled to participate and parents and friends are urged to witness the ceremonies and encourage the boys with their presence.

All Scouts on the Monterey Peninsula are requested to take part in the Memorial Day exercises at Pacific Grove, where 86-year-old J. H. King, lone survivor of the now defunct Lucius Fairchild Post of the G. A. R., still lives.

Mary who is one of the best Carmel pianists, can truly be claimed by us because she began her serious study of the piano here. After graduating from Monterey High School in 1926, she moved from Corral de Tierra into a small cottage and studied with David Alberto. She has given concerts in the Theatre of the Golden Bough and in the Denny-Watrous Gallery. She went to Los Angeles in the summer of 1932 and studied with the famous teacher, Robert Schmitz. FOR ECONOMY IT SHOULD BE Stored Heat

YOUR purchase of an Automatic Gas Water Heater is an investment in economy. In daily benefits and in long and dependable service it will pay dividends to the whole family. It is economical in operation as well. An Automatic operates on a minimum of fuel. The wasted fuel alone, in the operation of a tank type heater for example, will go a long way toward paying the cost of automatic hot water because the automatic control and insulated tank conserves fuel.

Right now is the thrifty time to buy your Automatic. Prices have not been raised. Purchase terms and monthly payments are low. Take advantage of this easy way to buy and easy way to save by investing for economy in an Automatic Gas Water Heater.

SUIT TO QUIET TITLE BEGUN BY MRS. LEIDIG

The suit by Mrs. Isabel A. Leidig against the Carmel Development Co., to quiet title on her property at the corner of Dolores and Ocean Avenue because of the deed restrictions against sale of alchoholic beverages, is in the hands of lawyers representing both parties, but little definite information can be gained beyond this.

Action of some kind in the matter of Carmel's deed restrictions which plainly state that liquor shall not be sold within the city limits, save upon a very few pieces, has been expected momentarily since repeal of national prohibition not only in Carmel but in other places having similar restrictions. Upon the outcome of the present case will hinge the future of Carmel's liquor stores, and much will probably depend on whether the delay in prosecution of the deed violations over a period of months will be considered a waiver or not.

The entire affair appears to be more one of law than of personal outlook, and Carmel is awaiting with interest the announcement of trial dates in Salinas under the eye of Judge Jorgensen.

A. D. H. TEAM WINS IN PACIFIC GROVE

The A. D. H. ball team has suddenly come to life and shown the Pacific Grove Night League what to expect from Carmel from now on. Pitcher Vic Renslow almost made it a shutout, but the Good Lumber company managed to shove over one run to the eleven for the Carmelites. In the local ranks were found such sterling players as Messrs. Frost, Renslow, Slipner, Henderson, Heneken, Goodrich, Hicks, Hilbert, Handley and Rico, many of them veterans of the Abalone League, and all now willing to die for good old A. D. H.

LEGION BARN DANCE TICKETS GOING FAST

The American Legion Barn Dance on June 9th, at the Old Monterey Polo Club, for benefit of the Legion Drum Corps of Peninsula Post No. 41, promises to be one of the most popular affairs of the coming month. The committee on arrangements, under chairmanship of Mrs. Sidney Fish, is receiving enthusiastic cooperation from public officials, service clubs and business men, all deeply interested in seeing the Corps bring back another championship to Monterey and the whole Peninsula.

Tickets are going rapidly in the hands of fifty five workers from all works of life, including bankers traffic officers, supervisors, Presidio officers, newspaper men and realtors, and if you do not put a dollar when one of these persons approaches, then you certainly will when one of the persuasive ladies on the committee does so. You simply can't miss this Barn Dance, and you won't if you get your dollar-a-couple ticket early enough, as only a limited number have been printed.

Table reservations must be made in advance, and will be twenty-five cents each, obtainable by phoning the Monterey Chamber of Commerce at 6205 and giving the number of places desired to Vincent Adams or his secretary.

There will be one of the snappiest orchestras the Peninsula has ever heard; there will be such informal garb as befiits a Barn Dance, the rule is come-as-you-please and stay-as-late-as-you-please. Reasonable prices will prevail on the refreshments, and the doors will open at 9 o'clock, with many surprises in store from then on.

Remember Saturday, June 9th. The American Legion won't let you forget it, and you'll never forgive yourself if you miss it.

RUMMAGE AND GARDEN SALES BY ALL SAINTS

Another of Carmel's delightful church events will be the Rummage Sale and Flower Market, concluding with a Food Sale, to be conducted by the Parish Guild of All Saints Church in the vacant store under the Sundial Court Apartments, through courtesy of Mrs. Mary Hamlin, owner of the building. Dates are Thursday the 24th, Friday the 25th, and Saturday the 26th, of this month.

Mrs. Ellen Rose, president of St. Anne's Guild is generally in charge with Mrs. Alfred Wheldon and Mrs. Dickison managing the Rummage Sale, while Miss Ann Grant and Mrs. Charles Lowell will handle the flower market. Mrs. Cooper Anderson and Mrs. E. L. Taylor will take care of the food sale on Saturday the 26th, assisted by Mrs. Vera Peck Millis, Mrs. Willard Wheeler, Mrs. George Reamer and several others.

All sort of articles from sewing outfits to bedroom sets, and from slippers to hats are wanted for the rummage sale, and flowers, plants, seeds, bulbs and so on may be left at the Parish Hall on Monte Verde street, or will be called for on request by phoning Carmel 135 or 914-W.

Here is your chance to clean house and donate things that will be gladly used by someone else, while you yourself can go to the sale and bring home just what you're looking for, either for yourself, your home, your garden or you dining room table.

BAY CITY "DRUNKARD" TO RUN MANY MONTHS

The San Francisco presentation of the now famous melodrama "The Drunkard," has attracted such crowds to the Palace Hotel, where it opened last week, that it is reported that a seven months option has been taken on it. This is the play that was dug up in a Berkeley attic and brought to life in Carmel some three years ago, then taken to Hollywood for what became national fame.

In the city cast are Connie Shuman, William Nye and Peggy Converse from the Carmel group. The play is receiving excellent press notices.

In the main grill room accommodating an audience of 500, it is presented every night except Sunday, with Neely Edwards, one-time film comedian, as master of ceremonies, and Marie DuVal, vaudeville favorite, as the Bowery Nightingale.

Connie Shuman does a specialty number of "A Bicycle Built For Two," and Peggy Converse is billed as "A Singer of Refined Songs." The rest of the company is largely composed of professionals, and before the present engagement, the play went on the road and did Fresno, Madeira and Santa Barbara. It was discovered that theatres could not be used, but that the intimacy of a stage at one end of a large room set with tables was quite essential to the spirit of the affair, and that the more dressy the audience, the louder everybody sang during the chorus numbers.

ENGLUND RECOVERS FROM SEVERE COLD

Chief of Police August Englund, Carmel's veteran peace officer, has been confined to his home for the better part of two weeks due to a bad cold that one time threatened pneumonia. Despite this handicap, he was at his office a few hours daily, and he reports that before the week is over he will be back on regular schedule with his many city duties.

And now for the recipe riot. She was trying to tell the bachelor how to cook cauliflower, and he was morbidly bringing up all the things that could ruin the finished dish, learned from first-hand grief.

"What about the bugs? The bugs you simply can't get out!" he demanded for the fifth time. And she shouted at last, "If the bugs stay in—cook 'em!"
